IT PAYS TO PLAY
BRITISH COLUMBIA IN POSTCARDS, 1950s - 1980s
February 24 - March 31

The breeziest, most colourful piece of correspondence - the photographic postcard - will be on view at Presentation House Gallery from February 24 to March 31, 1996.

IT PAYS TO PLAY, British Columbia In Postcards, 1950s - 1980s presents a "history" of British Columbia as represented in colour tourist postcards during the post-war era. This exhibition of some 2000 postcards examines how the province was seen by British Columbians and others through this popular mode of correspondence.

Saturday, March 2 at 2:15 pm

Guest curator, Peter White, will conduct a walking tour of the exhibition. This event is free and open to the public. A reception follows the tour.

Gallery hours: Wednesday through Sunday, 12 to 5 pm, Thursdays, 12 to 9 pm
Group tours are available by calling 986-1351 in advance.
